

Elume announced as a finalist for Residential Lighting Magazine Showroom of the Year 2015

Finalists Announced for 2015 Showroom of the Year Awards

Finalists for the sixth annual Showroom of the Year Awards have been announced. The awards, which honor top lighting retailers, are presented by Residential Lighting magazine and the Dallas Market Center, which hosts the Dallas International Lighting Market twice a year in January and June. This is the premier buying event for the lighting showroom market, and Residential Lighting is the leading trade publication serving this segment.

All awards will be presented at an opening night reception at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, June 24, on the fourth floor of the Dallas Trade Mart.

"The Showroom of the Year Awards is the premier program honoring the best and brightest in the lighting retail industry, and together with Residential Lighting we congratulate each of the finalists," says Bill Winsor, President and CEO, Dallas Market Center. "We look forward to celebrating their inspirational business achievements in Dallas this June."

Owners, Joe Ardivino and Jennifer Brassey, are thrilled for Elume to be a finalist for the fourth year in a row. "We hope that everyone who visits our showroom has a wonderful experience and sees that we have a love and passion for lighting!"
